Leading-edge technology, and a serious approach to risk management

We apply technology, people and processes to support risk mitigation and operating efficiencies. The proper design and integration of electronic security systems is key to ensuring resources are optimally utilized in the protection of our client's assets.

We are committed to building quality security and risk management programs.

Our team is experienced in the implementing these systems in government, public and private sector facilities.

Our team have a very unique approach to reach the goals of a system, identify possible risks, and manage the resources and technology necessary to minimise risk.

Our investment in a culture of excellence is reflected not only in our service training & development efforts, but also in our ISO 9001:2008 quality management certification. This further reflects our commitment to customer service delivered by our team on a daily basis.

Third Party Systems

Third party systems such as alarm panels, fire panels, electric fence alarm, access control, building and plant management systems can be integrated with our system which creates a powerful single user interface with video verification of events

Our system provides the following:

Storage Solutions

Tailormade storage solutions to suit every client.

Multi-server Site Management

Our software provides a true site-based management infrastructure with multiple servers, viewing servers, cameras, storage solutions and third party system integration all managed from a central location. The intuitive interface provides seamless access both on and off site and even with national access.

Access Right Management

Our large corporate and industrial clients often require multiple control rooms. This requires an advanced level of access control to the system in order to manage them safely which our systems provide effortlessly.

Off-site & Multi-site Management

This includes all functions from setup to viewing reviewing and system management from anywhere across the globe. We have developed many techniques which provide efficient streaming across limited band width.

Map Interface

Displays multi layered plans of the site displaying positions of alarm, fire, perimeter fence, access control doors and more. The system allows a drag and drop on the map to select monitors allowing the control of third-party systems.

Mobile Application

This enables our clients the ability to remotely view from smart phones including controlling PTZ's from the user interface. An automatic scaling of video to suit the bandwidth available on your cellphone allowing you to access your system from any were in the world.

Alarm Management

Large camera installations are impossible to physically monitor. A black screen approach is used in which the system generates an alarm which indicates which cameras should be monitored.

The software provides this along with complete alarm logs and the ability to escalate to management. A comprehensive reporting facility is included in the installation. Similarly when monitoring multiple sites from a central control room, the alarm manager receives alarms from various sites and provides an automatic connection to these sites initiating an alarm. Pre and post event clips can be automatically downloaded and archived.

Video Wall

Intelligent management of video that displays on multiple monitors, provides us the ability manage and preform layout sequences automatically switching cameras to monitors upon specific events thus allowing manual or automatic monitor layouts, allowing the freedom to tailor make your control room operations.

Video Analytics

The system provides its own on camera (Edge) analytics, including "Smart" learning motion detection algorithm, abandoned or removed object detection, loitering, speed detection, line crossing and object counting, our user-friendly interface allows you to easily configure these algorithms using live and recorded footage.

Security Consulting & Risk Management

The process begins with an evaluation of the facility, identification of the undesired events and the respective critical assets. Defining a design basis threat is included, as well as using the definition of the threat to estimate the likelihood of an undesirable event at a specific facility. Methods are also included for estimating the effectiveness of the security system against the undesirable event.
